A. M. HERNANDEZ.

Provided with the above document is it atrange that the Proprietor of the

MELOBEON

Should proceed for the introduction of now Pieces and Acts to be represented by such distinguished Artisis as:

A. M. HERNANDEZ and MISS MHELPLEY.

Mr. H. called daily upon the Proprietor, and, in the presence of various witnesses, repeatedly urged him to ranounce him freely and advertise him extensively, as be was dissatisfied with the finited display made for him by Fox a Curran. Three days after giving the above receipt he called and stated that he had made an error about the time of his engagement with them (it was for two months and he had supposed it was eight weeks), and that Messrs. Fox a Curran held him for the full time. The Proprietor of the

and he had supposed it was eight weeks), and that Messes. For a Curran held him for the full time. The Proprietor of the MELOPEON

Told him that had no wish to disturb the arrangements or interfere with the plans of any managers, and would yield as a matter of duty on the principle of "doing as he would like to be done by." Mr. H at the same communication intest that the moment his engagement there had expired an offer of $2,900 per week would be no inducement for him to remain at the Canterbury, and at the same time exhibited a letter, of which the following is a copy, with a plan declaration of his opinion of its authorship.

NEW YORK, July 18, 1861.

DEAR Miss Winkiplay—You are the most charming dansesuse that has ever appeared in America. You excel Madame Marietta, as they call her. They say she is late of the Ravel Troupe. I guess it was very late when she belonged to that troupe. If the proprietors—namely, Messers Fox & Curran—had pat on the bill that you were late of the Ravel Troupe, people might have believed it. All who visit the great Canterbury are of the aume opinion as I am about you. Every one who has seen you says that they admire your dancing much better than Marietta's, late of the Ravel troupe. Ha'l ha'l A ballet dancer, and her name on the bills, late of the Ravels. You are a real beauty both in dadeing and appearance. Messers Fox & Curran never need be atraid of the Canterbury boristing up as long as they have you in their establishment. They are proprietors that know how to manage a place of anusement. I loope that they will ever keep you at their hall, as it is the only hall my company and I visit. I visit it most every night in the week. When you leave the great Canterbury we leave, and if you join any other company in this city wish to say, never join the for I do not think we would like to go in that hole. Please show this to your proprietors, if you like. From admirers of your beauty and dancing.

or Palace of Glass. N. R.—Please answer this in the New York Herald. (A thort answer preferable in percas.) Our answer:

The exact words of the letter are given, and when it is considered that Messrs. Fox & Curran had been informed of the engagement of Mr. Hernandez and Miss Whelpley at the MEJOHEON before the date of the letter; that their company of ladies had been reduced from various causes below a working minimum; the request for an answer in the New York Herald; the style, composition and chyrograely of the letter; the unformity of the hand writing of the signatures, it is not strange that Mr. Hernandez came to his conclusion of its authorship, and expressed reasonable disgust at the meanness of the latent.

Now, the intention and design, without exception, of the proprietors of the MELODEON

Has always been to protect the character and interest of performers upon whom managers and proprietora are always dependent for success. He admit the superior talents possessed by these artists, and can attest to the competency of Mr. Hernandez, he having played for him years ago. It is only for self protection that he maken this explanations. Having been advertised and his not appearing, the public and his patrons demand a reason. So while admitting that the persons in question are stars, he would state that so late as Friday, the 20th list., Mr. H. cailed and repeated his assurances of folithing his agreement; but on saturday, having been informed of his renewing a contract with his former managers, notwith-standing his protest to the contrary, the proprietor of the strength of his engagement, it is true, a new piece was advertised, and, notwithstanding the violation be seen at the box office, and specimens of a corresponding hondwriting.

Upon the strength of his engagement, it is true, a new piece was advertised, and, notwithstanding the violation of his contract, the new piece was put upon the stage and received with great celat, under the direction of PROFESSOR YATES, and no inquiry of the audience betokened disappointment, or even a knowledge of the absence of Mr. Hernandez. In fact the Mejodeon could hardly suffer in losing greater artists, when such stars are left as MR. J. H. OODEN,
